Block it. One day, real moves.

Timing structure assumes you start tonight at 8pm. Adjust to your day. The only rule: don't spread it across a week.

8:00 PM TODAY	[0] Setup	Pick one LLM you already pay for. One tab. No tool-shopping.
8:15 PM	[1] Workflow 1	Email triage. Output: 3 buckets + draft replies.
9:30 PM	[2] Workflow 2	Meeting prep. Output: agenda + open questions per meeting.
10:30 PM	[–] Sleep	Save 3-5 for morning. Burning out at midnight = no Monday ship.
6:30 AM	[3] Workflow 3	Document compression. Output: 1-page brief.
7:30 AM	[4] Workflow 4	Decision support. Output: 3 reframes on 1 stuck call.
8:30 AM	[5] Workflow 5	Personal ops. Output: written runbook for 1 errand.
9:00 AM	[★] Ship	Run Workflow 1 on today's actual inbox. Live, not practice.

4 minutes. Not 2 hours.

STEP 01 OF 03

Snapshot your inbox

→ PASTE-READY LIST OF 30-50 UNREAD ITEMS

Open your email client. Copy subject + sender for the last 30-50 unread messages into a scratch doc.

STEP 02 OF 03

Paste this prompt into any LLM

→ 3 BUCKETS + DRAFTS FOR ACTION-NEEDED

>_ PROMPT

You are my email triage assistant. Take the inbox list below and split it into 3 buckets:

  1. ACTION NEEDED (under 5 min reply, do today)
  2. READ LATER (informational, no action)
  3. ARCHIVE / DELETE (newsletters, junk, FYIs already handled)

For each ACTION NEEDED item, draft a 2-3 sentence reply I can edit and send.

Inbox:
[paste your 30-50 lines here]

STEP 03 OF 03

Send the action-needed batch

→ 5-12 EMAILS CLOSED IN 30 MINUTES

Copy each draft into the reply box. Edit one line for your voice. Send. Move on.

> The LLM is not your replacement. It is your first draft. The draft is 80% of the work.

Fill in before 9:00 AM Monday.

Print it. Or fill on a tablet. The act of writing locks in the decision.

01. Which one workflow am I committing to using on Monday morning?

Pick exactly one. Not five. Other four are next week.

02. What is the calendar block I am putting on Monday?

Specific time + duration. e.g., "Mon 8:15-8:45 AM, email triage."

03. What would I have to believe for this to fail by Friday?

Pre-mortem. Naming the failure mode is how you avoid it.

04. Who am I telling that I did this?

One person. Public commitment = follow-through.

FAQ

Q. Which LLM should I use?

A. The one you already pay for. Workflows work on Claude, ChatGPT, Gemini, Grok, Perplexity. Brand doesn't matter for 95% of what most people do.

Q. Will this work if I am not technical?

A. Yes. You are copy-pasting a prompt and pasting in text. If you can use Gmail, you can do this.

Q. Do you offer refunds?

A. No. Digital download. Value is in doing the 24 hours, not returning the file.

Q. What is next after these 5 workflows?

A. The $79 Paste Pack adds 25 more prompt bundles. Same one-paste-and-go format.
